ADVENTURE PRINCESSES:

RUNNING WATERS

UPCOMING EVENTS: Induction Ceremony 01/05/20; Bowling 01/19/2020; Sledfest 01/25/2020

Trail Boss Letter

Yetta Hey,

Wow it's 2020 already! A big thank you to everyone that made it to the Induction ceremony.

We are going to miss our outgoing Fire Territory; we all had a great time together. Congratulation to the MIGHTY Fireflies for winning Out Post of the Year! So Exciting! Enjoy that HUGE trophy.

As sad as it is to see the old Fire Territory go, we welcome not only our NEW Fire Territory, but all new members to The Big Creek Frontier.

We have some great events planned out for the year.

Coming up this month:

Cosmic Bowling - This one is great- fun times, disco lights and bowling. Will there be a special tour this year?

Sled Fest (pending snow). Bring your sled, have some doughnuts, hot coco and race your friends down the hill. Will Mr. Scarton have to save the day again this year?!

Next Month is our annual fundraiser. This is very important to our organization: it sets our budget for the year. Grab some friends and come out on Feb 1st for our 3rd Casino night. We have some great prizes lined up this year. If you know anyone that would like to support our fundraiser through donations, please let Ryan Scarton or myself know. We have table sponsorships available.

I look forward to serving The Adventure Princess program this year and thank you again to all 2020 officers and their families.

Friends Always,

Joe & Rosie LiPuma

Winter Fluff Raid!

Christmas Party

Story Teller Story

Two little girls were at play one day when a Fairy appeared and said, "I have been sent to give you New Year presents." She handed Renee and Margaret two beautiful books, with pages as pure and white as the snow when it first falls.

Many months passed and the Fairy came again to the girls. "I have brought you each another book," she said, "and will take the first ones back."

"May I not keep mine a little longer?" asked Renee. "I have hardly thought about it lately. I'd like to paint something on the last leaf that lies open."

"No," said the Fairy; "I must take it just as it is."

"I wish that I could look through mine just once," said Margaret. "I have only seen one page at a time, when the page turns over it sticks fast, and I can never open the book at more than one page each day."

"You shall look at your book," said the Fairy, "and Renee, at hers." And she lit for them two little silver lamps, by the light of which they saw the pages as she turned them.

The girls looked in wonder. Could it be that these were the same books she had given them a year ago? Where were the clean, white pages, as pure and beautiful as the snow when it first falls? Here was a page with ugly, black spots and scratches upon it; while the very next page showed a lovely little picture. Some pages were decorated with gold and silver and gorgeous colors, others with beautiful flowers, and still others with a rainbow of softest, most delicate brightness. Yet even on the most beautiful of the pages there were ugly blots and scratches.

Renee and Margaret looked up at the Fairy at last. "Who did this?" they asked. "Every page was white and fair as we opened to it; yet now there is not a single blank place in the whole book!"

"Shall I explain some of the pictures to you?" said the Fairy, smiling at the two little girls. "See, Margaret, the spray of roses blossomed on this page when you let the baby have your playthings; and this pretty bird, that looks as if it were singing with all its might, would never have been on this page if you had not tried to be kind and pleasant the other day, instead of quarreling."

"But what makes this blot?" asked Margaret.

"That came," said the Fairy sadly, "when you told an untruth one day, and this when you did not mind mamma. All these blots and scratches that look so ugly, both in your book and in Renee's, were made when you were naughty. Each pretty thing in your books came on its page when you were good."

"Oh, if we could only have the books again!" said Renee and Margaret.

"That cannot be," said the Fairy. "See, they are dated for this year, and they must now go back into Father Time's bookcase. But I have brought you each a new one. Perhaps you can make these more beautiful than the others."

So saying, she vanished, and the girls were left alone. But each held in her hand a new book open at the first page.

Each day is a fresh page. May each of you Dads and Daughters strive to make each page beautiful this year!

Hey Dads, too busy to be an Adventure Princess Officer but still want to help out?

Pitch in as a Trail Hand when the organization needs a little extra help.

Trail Hands are dads who volunteer to help out at a Frontier event. They support the event OIC (Officer In Charge) as needed. Acting as a Trail Hand is a great way to learn how the organization operates, help a fellow dad, and display the act of volunteering to your daughter.

Contact Trail Boss or Assistant Trail Boss if you are interested.
